America invades Yemen...!

It wasn't a surprise for America - The leader of the Crusade waged upon the Muslims- after their failure in confronting the mujahedeen in Iraq to withdraw their soldiers from that quagmire which the sons of Islam had drowned them in.

Now, America aims at the land of faith and wisdom with their invading armies...

Despite all the facilities and services that were offered by Ali Saleh to strike the Muslims in Yemen through airfield and sea invasion, through setting up intelligence and security corps that belongs to him, his sons and his brother's sons. The Americans still want nothing but the occupation of land. They have occupied the airfield, they are present in the sea and today they deploy their soldiers on ground to occupy the land of faith and wisdom.

Madad exclusively publishes pictures of the occupying American vanguard while it is in Sana'a; these pictures were obtained by Madad's private sources. This report has been specified to highlight this calamity which is considered to be the greatest calamity Yemen goes through in these critical times.

The American administration didn't conceal its intention to occupy Yemen since the beginning of its Crusade against the Muslims. Rumsfeld, America's former minister of defense said after the fall of Baghdad in March of 2003 according to the Gulf Times that Yemen and Nigeria are America's next targets in its war on terror. Those words weren't devoid of actions; because America has gradually sought after its target through taking a number of steps: They started by reinforcing the mercenary regime of Ali Saleh's with financial, logistic and military support. They took control of Yemen's airfield and shores using drone aircrafts and warships. Lastly, they deployed the first vanguard of the American occupation into the country during the Arab spring uprisings, taking advantage of the circumstances the country goes through.

American soldiers wandering about in the hotel's quarter

Here is the first vanguard of the American occupation camps at the Sheraton Hotel, sets up road blocks and parapets in its surroundings and patrols the Yemeni capital of Sana'a. Other American soldiers have also been seen in Hadhramaut in the area of Khlf near Bahrul-Arab hotel and near Holiday In hotel - Khlf is an area containing a military base for the leadership of the Eastern part of the country. Other soldiers have been seen behind the presidential palace in al-Mukallah, something which has been confirmed by eye-witnesses and human right activists.

It is worth mentioning that these American forces were deployed in Sana'a after a military base was established in the island of Socotra for similar purposes.

The stance of Yemen's Islamic scholars

This momentous incident has put the scholars of Yemen in front of a clear challenge of translating words into action –as the observers say. As It has been previously declared by Yemen's majority of scholars that: "Upon any persistence of any foreign body to trespass and invade the country or upon any military intervention, Islam then obligates upon all of its followers to wage jihad to repel the aggressors' aggression." Especially that they have stated at the margins of their declaration: "There is an American and British plan in co-operation with the Northern Atlantic alliance to occupy Yemen [that is noticeable] through the London's Conference, through sending forces to Yemen and putting the country under a regency council."

The stance of the opposition parties

As for the opposition parties, they have a new stance different than their previous one. In the past, they vituperated Ali Saleh for allowing the American air-force to target Yemenis in their land. In 2002, the Islaah party, the socialist party, the Naasiry, the Ba'ath party, the Shiite party of al-Haq, the public man-power union, the September organization, all released a statement. In it they said that they oppose the American airstrike targeting a car in Ma'rib; they considered it to be an assault to the sovereignty of Yemen as an independent country. The statement also accused the Yemeni government at the time of connivance and of neglecting the Yemeni sovereignty and the blood of the Yemeni citizens. It burdened the government full responsibility of the dangerous outcome resulting from neglecting the Yemeni sovereignty. It also demanded the government to stop its deceptive media tool and its misleading politics that it practices concerning its military and intelligence collaboration with the United States. It emphasized the necessity of transparency with the Yemeni people with regard to revealing the reality of the happenings and presenting it to the legislative, nationalist and civil foundations in the country. The statement requested of the chamber of deputies to question the government about its collusion in violating the national sovereignty. It also appealed to the public to be alerted and cautious towards anything that threatens Yemen's sovereignty, independence, security and stability.

This stance has presently changed in the current crisis, so there were no statements coming out from them to condemn the American aggression that is committed by the violation of Yemen's airfield, the bombardment and killing of the Muslims in Abyan and Shabwah, the assassination of Shaykh Anwar Al Awlaki and his son abdur-Rahman and the unlimited backing up of Ali Saleh. Instead, the opposition parties connected the success of the revolution with the American and the Western approval. It got to the extent of inviting America and France to violate "the national sovereignty" as stated by Bafadhl, the Head of the parliamentary bloc of al-Islaah party.

The mujahideen's stance

Muhammad al-Ubaidy - one of the mujahedeen - answered a question that was posed to him by Madad regarding their stance: " By the grace of Allah, we are at all times ready for jihad in Allah's cause and always prepared to repel the American aggression. And since they declared their Crusade against the Muslims, we have been preparing and training as required for confrontation. The Crusaders will - by Allah's will - face from the mujahedeen the same as they faced on the mountains of Afghanistan and in the riverbanks of Euphrates".

He added: "We call upon our Muslim ummah, particularly in Yemen. We call upon the scholars and the youth to play their role in waging jihad against the Crusaders and not to miss their lifetime opportunity before America and its allies dominate more in the land. This will be through declaring jihad in Allah's cause against the Crusaders and their loyal agent - Ali Saleh - who has opened the airfield, the land and the sea for their operations. We call the Muslim ummah to join the mujahedeen's ranks who have established military training camps to train the Muslim youth on how to use various range of weapons. By the grace of Allah, many Muslim youth have graduated from these camps and others are still to this moment joining in from the different regions of Yemen and from abroad. I think it is fair to say that the mujahideen are the most experienced in fighting the Americans and their agents [this is so] through the battles they engaged and still engaging against them. By the grace of Allah, the mujahideen have in the past successfully hit their fighting machine - USS Cole - when it sat out on the Yemeni shores in the year of 2000".
